Emma Cameron | Creative Producer

A performer by training, Emma studied dance, musical theater and acting at Arts Educational, the beautiful Elizabethan Tring Park School in Hertfordshire, England. Work followed: entertaining musical-theater and Shakespeare audiences all over England grounded and inspired her continued film and voice-over work in LA. Given her contacts in LA, Emma naturally transitioned to corporate work and now produces content for a wide range of companies. Highlights from the last decade include working with US Olympic Gold medalist Misty May and Kerri Walsh for Nike Swim, LeBron James for Nike Basketball and great companies such as Oakley and Jaguar.

Mark Cameron | Creative Director

Mark Cameron has worked in the entertainment industry for fifteen years. He followed up his business degree at University of California at Riverside with a masters in film at Loyola Marymount University. As an editor he has worked for Mark Burnett and Morgan Spurlock ('Super Size Me'); on television shows like 'The Larry Sanders Show' and also with companies he feels passionately about, such as The Sierra Club. Always ahead of the curve and eager to embrace new technology, Mark started a camera rental company in 2008.
